Eureka, CA—July 26, 2007— Bridging decades of experience with both technology and art, Chalda Maloff has combined her passions to yield a collection of vibrant canvases entitled, Dancing in the Rain. The exhibit debuts the Morris Graves Museum of Art in California. The Humboldt Arts Council hosts the opening reception on August 4, 2007 from 6 p.m.- 9 p.m. Show runs from July 26—September 9, 2007. This series of digital paintings is rooted in an abiding respect for science. Even in the unreal world of these abstract compositions, the cause-and-effect laws of physics still apply. Light reflects from one surface to another, moisture condenses, shadows are cast. A spatial geometry, even if unconventional, still presides. Maloff's art is about the interplay among parts of a whole in a particular environment. As a Human Ecologist, she tends to view all objects in terms of their effects upon one another. Even in the unreal world of her abstracts, the laws of physics still apply: light still reflects off shiny surfaces, moisture still condenses where hot and cold collide. The edge of a shape or boundary line assumes pivotal significance in her art as they mark difference thus establishing classifications. The appearance of spontaneity in her art pieces is an illusion. Working slowly and methodically she digitally builds the forms and shapes, allowing them to interact at their own pace.

The Morris Graves Museum of Art, located at 636 F Street, Eureka is open to the public noon-5p.m., Wednesday through Sunday. Museum admission is by donation: $4 for adults, $1 for seniors age 55 and older; HAC Members and children age 12 and under are admitted free. Admission is always free for everyone during each First Saturday Arts Alive!, 6-9 p.m.
